

Thrive Co-operative Learning Trust 2020 to 2021

- Gender Pay Gap Data

The Trust has calculated the gender pay gap in line with government expectations. This calculation is based upon a total of 745 employees on the payroll on the 'snapshot' date 31 March 2021. When looking at the figures (found at the end of this document) it is useful to know that the Trust workforce consists of two distinct groups paid in very different ways: teachers and support staff.

Teachers

Teachers, whether female or male, are paid on an agreed scale within the Trust's Pay Policy. Teachers of similar experience and performance within a subject and holding similar responsibilities are, therefore, paid the same for their work regardless of gender. Posts are advertised indicating the salary range that applies.

Support staff

The trust employs the vast majority of its staff in-house rather than outsourcing services such as cleaning and catering, as some academies and MATs do. Support staff roles are advertised with the pay range to be paid for the role which is determined by an independent job evaluation specialist. There is no differentiation by gender. Support staff have salary increases each year within the published scale.

The Thrive Cooperative Learning Trust is committed to equal opportunities for a range of characteristics; this would include pay equality for men and women so that men are not paid more than women for undertaking the same job role or vice versa.
